Weather Myths

Today, we are going to write a story to explain some weather phenomenon. Here are a few ideas to get you thinking. You may select one of the ideas below or come up with one of your own. Be sure to add details, relate it to some type of weather you know about, and be creative.

1. When will the tides stop changing? Who's playing tug-of-war?
2. Describe the snow queen that dances to the ground with each snowflake in the winter?
3. What kind of an argument would make someone throw lightning bolts from the sky?
4. How strong is the one that lifts the heavy sun into the sky each morning?
5. What stories could you tell about the clouds moving by and their strange shapes?
6. How could you cheer up the one that cries for hours on end during a rain storm?
7. Whose "bad breath" created fog?
8. Where and why does the stormiest weather occur?
9. Tell about the giant that has the strongest, hardest, and wettest sneeze causing hurricanes. Will cold medicine help?
10. How do the magicians constantly change the weather instruments?
11. Who turns on the water faucet when it rains?

Can you think of some on your own?
